A WAR STORY.

Apropos of war stories and what happened in camp life during the late war a good story is told about the 18th Georgia, which regiment Mr. John W. Dent. now of Marx's Addition, was a member. He does not deny the story and says it is a fact. The regiment arrived in Richmond during the liset part of the late war and when they landed in the capital city they were taken to the old Fair Grounds, where they were to encamp. When they were they were to encamp. When they were theire they mistook for ground peas. The regiment broke ranks and pulled up ever bit of the clover. The owner came out when he saw his crop damaged and asked what they meant by ruining his fine crop of clover. They told him they were not bothering his clover hut were after ground peas. When they learned their mistake they were a lot of crest-fallen Georgia crackers. It cost their commander, Colonel Douglas, the price of the clover for their error to appeass the wrath of the owner of the crop. They afterwards learned their difference between clover and ground peas. BRIEFS AND PERSONALS.

A ROBBER CONFESSES.

He Implicates Seven Yuong Men Who Were Arrested.

Under the array of witnesses which the court summoned Godsey made a complete confession, even volunteering the information that the car was running at the time of the robbery.

As to the manner of disposing of the goods Godsey said that they had been abought by seven young men, as follows:

Clifton Garbett, Roy Charles, W. B. Beck, William Utey, William Soxy, Joseph Deaton and Ernest Brooking.

Every one of these men had appeared among the State's wilnesses against Gadsey and Deputy Sheriff Fussiel had mere by to notify them that they were under arrest.
